My company, Summit Agricultural Group, has entered into agreements with Iowa State University in three contracts involving the Alternate Energy Revolving Loan Program as administrated by the Iowa Energy Center. The Iowa Energy Center is administrated through Iowa State University.

Summit Agricultural Group is conducting a rubber mat trial with ISU Extension. Summit is working with Russ Euken (regional extension agent) and Dr. Grant Dewell and Dr. Renee Dewell at Iowa State's Veterinary College. ISU researchers receive no compensation or aid for the work in the trial project. The results have been shared through ISU Extension services. Summit has sold cattle to Iowa State University for Dr. Renee Dewell’s research purposes.

Dr. Engelken and Dr. Pat Gordon of Iowa State’s Veterinary College occasionally bring veterinary students to tour the cattle confinements and discuss vaccination protocols.

Summit Agricultural Group co-sponsors the Agricultural Business Plan Competition developed in 2014 by the Agricultural Entrepreneurship Initiative at Iowa State University. The Agricultural Business Plan Competition will provide undergraduate and graduate students with a platform to develop and share their ag-related entrepreneurial business venture ideas. It also will allow participants the opportunity to learn written and oral presentation skills, build their entrepreneurial network and motivate them to create feasible businesses which will contribute to the betterment of the agricultural industry. The competition offers students enrolled at several Midwest universities an opportunity to develop new business ideas into investment ready business plans and to compete for monetary awards that must be used to make their business viable.

Summit Agricultural Group donates funds to the University of Iowa Foundation to create four scholarships annually at the University of Iowa Tippie College of Business. This scholarship program will be funded for five consecutive years starting in 2015. While each scholarship has its own eligibility criteria, all of them will be awarded to individuals possessing strong Iowa ties, agricultural backgrounds, and leadership skills.

Summit Agricultural Group along with several other companies will invest in the Ag Startup Engine, a private agricultural accelerator program aligned with the Agricultural Entrepreneurship Initiative (AgEl). The Ag Startup Engine provides mentorship and financial support for agricultural entrepreneurs. AgEl provides students with practical business development and entrepreneurial experiences essential to building skills needed to start their own business ventures.
I am a shareholder in AgriSol Holdings, which was working with the College of Agriculture at Iowa State University on a Tanzanian agriculture project. Prior to becoming a member of the Board of Regents, AgriSol provided scholarship commitments and travel expense reimbursement for travel to Tanzania.

Telepharm, LLC, is a company in which I am a shareholder. TelePharm, LLC, an Iowa City based telepharmacy software company, has partnered in a research project with the University of Iowa Health Care, Department of Pharmaceutical Care (UI DOPC), to develop an IT solution for pharmacists to provide virtual verification of medications at a remote facility. Keokuk Area Hospital is participating in the project with the UI DOPC and TelePharm. Nurses at Keokuk Area Hospital are utilizing TelePharm's software to obtain electronic verification from pharmacists at the UI DOPC that medications selected for the hospital's patients are safe and appropriate for the patients before they are dispensed. The software used in the project is provided at no cost to UI DOPC or the Keokuk Area Hospital.

I am a Trustee of the Richard O. Jacobson Trust and a Director of the Richard O. Jacobson Foundation. Both entities have made contributions to Iowa State University, the University of Iowa and the University of Northern Iowa in the past.

I have given financial gifts to Iowa State University, the University of Iowa, and the University of Northern Iowa.

I also have given funds to Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity for the scholarship programs.
